Cheat Sheet—July 2025

Welcome to your July 2025 Fritsma Factor Cheat Sheet, a monthly gateway to our June 2025 entries and before. Summer has arrived in the northern hemisphere, while many of us in South America, Africa, and Australia are bracing for winter. Here in “sweet home” Alabama, we’ve experienced daily thundershowers. Wherever you are, we hope you will review our monthly information and visit Fritsma Factor often.

June 2025 QQ: Fibrinolysis

Our June 2025 Quick Question asked, Which fibrinolysis component directly digests fibrin? Once again, our participants overwhelmingly chose the correct answer. Click “Which fibrinolysis component directly digests fibrin?” to learn how you performed and to refresh yourself on the fibrinolytic pathway.

July 2025 QQ: New Hemophilia Therapeutics

At the June 21–25 2025 ISTH meeting in Washington, DC we heard several quality presentations describing the new hemophilia treatment materials such as the newest extended half-life concentrates plus bypassing, rebalancing, and gene transfer therapies. In follow-up, our July 2025 Quick Question asks you to select the choice that represents the recently approved rebalancing therapies. Click “July 2025 Quick Question: Hemophilia Therapeutics” and make your selection from the right-hand column. Add your comment, especially if you have recent experience with one of the new therapeutics. Watch also for July entries that attempt to summarize a few of the ISTH presentations.

2025–26 Conference Schedule

With thanks to Precision BioLogic Inc. marketing guru Elaine Benoit, the Fritsma Factor Conferences Calendar has been updated. Please review and make your conference schedule plans for the upcoming year. ADLM, in Chicago IL, USA, is nearly upon us, July 27–31, 2025. As you review the list, please send your updates and additions to George.

Thank you for your participation.
